

I strongly want to note my opposition to HR 4026.
This type censorship represents an industry that does not give the public the type of programming and information they want (and support by purchase of advertised products). The large monopolies who 'own' radio, television, and print media are not interested in providing a service to the public - but only in offering 'canned' programming which reduces their costs and enhances their profit.
These monopolies want to limit access and choice to the public by trying to legislate limit of choices in radio programming options.

I thought that broadcasting entities are mandated by the FCC to provide a service. They obviously do not.

Satellite radio offers options - that threatens broadcasters. If they would do a better job - people would listen to 'free' radio -- The growth of the satellite industry demonstrates the poor quality offered in this country.

Passage of HR 4026 will not force satellite radio listeners to switch back to broadcast radio -- it will only force them to seek other entertainment via cd's or tapes. Passage of such legislation is just approved censorship - that is not what America is about!